Description

Provide a short description of the event and its activities.

The aim of the project “Multi-Perspective Holocaust Remembrance in Contemporary Europe” (short: MuRem) is to build a network and strengthen multiperspectivity and interdisciplinarity in European Holocaust Education by taking into account the diversity of memory cultures and their consequences for the present. A special focus lays on the integration of narratives on flight and migration. Along with a Europe-wide survey and overview analysis of current challenges and new approaches to this educational work, the educational institutions exchange ideas in two large events and several key topic workshops. The goal is the joint development and testing of multi-perspective methods and tools for a diversity-oriented and interdisciplinary Holocaust education.

The event started with a public evening event about “Experiences of Refugeedom in Past and Present. Perspectives from six cities of refuge” with readings, short film presentations from the We Refugees Archive were presented and a panel discussed how to tell the (hi)stories of forced migration.

On November 11th, the members of the European MuRem-network – including representatives from museums, memorials, research institutes and networks, educational NGOs and teacher organizations – got to know each other’s perspectives and experiences with multiperspectivity in European Holocaust Education by sharing experiences from their practice. Furthermore, they discussed the goals of their networks and upcoming steps, including key topics for the further events and the network agreement. In the event, the participants worked together on the European-wide survey on multiperspectivity in European Holocaust Education will be disseminated from the beginning of 2023 onwards.
